

Objectives: The Club's objectives are to learn about Construction Excellence and Best Practice issues from each other and the wider construction community and to share this knowledge so that the performance of local construction organisations improves

Club's Vision: To be a leading Constructing Excellence club in the UK which is recognised by all third parties in the Black Country as the organisation for information, knowledge, connections and the sharing of best practice in the construction related supply chain. Club events will be the place of choice to meet and learn, particularly for SMEs

Feedback on Club Activity:

"I have attended events at BCCEC over the last four years and it has greatly improved our knowledge of the industry sector and best practice and also helped me connect with other organisations in the region. I have since serving as an Officer of BCCEC joined the management committee at HAWCE. These regional clubs are a great asset to the industry" - C Pearce, Telecetera Ltd

"Over the years BCCEC has established itself as the leading provider of well managed, well attended networking events which ensures attending is worth my time and effort" Richard Sapcote, Seddon

"An informative and thought provoking event, helping create a platform to challenge current practices, and understand the pressures on all elements of the supply chain. You are made to feel welcome and the knowledge shared will help your personnel development" Richard Morris, Harsco

"Very useful events that enable people to meet new contacts and expand their knowledge" Karina Grabovska, G F Tomlinson

"The Black Country Events have been well attended and presented in a professional way. There has been a broad range of members who always contribute enthusiastically to the discussions, and debate any proposals in a lively manner" Ken Jones, Thomas Vale Construction
